The Eternal President

For my entrance page to my hypertext, users will be greeted with the name of the piece of non-fiction and a sound symbol. Upon the sound symbol being pressed, users will hear the news bulletin from when reports came in that President Kennedy had been shot. Furthermore, the users mouse will locate the name of the non-fiction and when clicked, will enter into the main site.

Page 2

The second page will consist of the actual time line. Users will experience the time lines appearing when they scroll down. Also the user will be able to interact with the user-face as they can click”listen” or “view” buttons that will play a clip of news bulletin or video pertaining to the certain information box.
